

“Reference Dependence in the Housing Market” Disclosure Statement

Julie Marx

Julie Marx has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper. As far as she is aware, none of her outside activities and financial considerations have any direct interest in the topic of this paper. She is an Assistant Professor at Copenhagen Business School, which does not place any formal restrictions on her published work.