

Disclosure Statement Matthias Krapf for “Behavioral Responses to Wealth Taxes: Evidence from Switzerland”

The author declares that he has no relevant or material financial interests that relate to the research described in this paper.

The individual-level data used in our research are proprietary. They were obtained from the tax administration of the canton of Bern in Switzerland, who requested to review the results of the study prior to their dissemination to ensure that the confidentiality of the data is not unintentionally compromised.

Date, Signature:

1 July 2021,  