

MONEY, BANKING AND PUBLIC POLICY

HAROLD BARGER • Columbia University

In addition to providing a compact, up-to-date account of monetary and fiscal theory, this basic text includes a discussion of the monetary aspects of the business cycle. Bank and nonbank financial institutions are described and their regulation discussed; banking in other countries is examined. Monetary and fiscal policy are evaluated in relation to growth, unemployment, inflation, and the gold problem. Because the organization of the text is based on classroom experience, it offers a balanced, integrated treatment of theory and description.

1962 • 714 pages • $8.50

STATISTICS: An Introduction to Quantitative Economic Research

DANIEL B. SUITS • University of Michigan

This brief introductory statistics text focuses on economic research and is directed toward understanding the basic logic of the research method used and interpretation of the results obtained. It includes specific, realistic examples of the application of each technique to be learned. Worksheets showing systematic and efficient data layout and computing procedures facilitate effective and accurate applications. Numerous short-cut calculating systems are presented throughout; requires a minimum of formal mathematics.

1963 • 260 pages • $6.50

PUBLIC ECONOMICS

LIEF JOHANSEN • University of Oslo, Norway

Modern economic theory is applied to the problems of fiscal policy and general public economy. The general theory of relationships between targets and instruments of economic policy is examined. Because the text assumes a prior knowledge of basic economic theory and mathematics, it can approach special problems of public economy in a more direct and precise way. All important forms of taxes and their specific effects are discussed. Special chapters are devoted to a welfare-theoretical treatment of taxation forms and to methods of measuring effects of tax systems on income distribution.

Available outside the U.S. and Canada from North-Holland Publishing Co.

1966 • 380 pages • $9.50

RAND McNALLY & COMPANY

The College Department • Box 7600 • Chicago, Illinois 60680

- American Economic Association
 - American Farm Economic Association
 - American Finance Association
 - Catholic Economic Association
 - Econometric Society
 - Industrial Relations Research Association
- ALLIED SOCIAL SCIENCE ASSOCIATIONS PROGRAM

SAN FRANCISCO • NINETEEN HUNDRED AND SIXTY SIX

